LIVING IT

AUGUST 1

The spiritual life is not a theory. We have to live it.
ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS, p. 83

When new in the program, I couldn't comprehend living the spiritual aspect of the program, but now that I'm sober, I can't comprehend living without it. Spirituality was what I had been seeking. God, as I understand Him, has given me answers to the whys that kept me drinking for twenty years. By living a spiritual life, by asking God for help, I have earned to love, care for and feel compassion for all my fellow men, and to feel joy in a world where, before, I felt only fear.

A Global Fellowship: My Unforgettable Journey to the 2025 AA International Convention

My journey to the 2025 AA International Convention in Vancouver began long before boarding a plane—it started in December 2024 at the AA Regional Forum in Biloxi, MS. Attending my first Regional Forum was eye-opening, and the excitement of being surrounded by so many eager alcoholics planted a seed that would blossom over time. During a workshop titled “2025 International Convention Q&A,” I met Patrick C., the International Convention Coordinator. Members asked all sorts of questions, and although I had been unsure about attending, that workshop became the catalyst. Before the year ended, I had already registered, booked my flight and hotel, and began the process of getting my passport.

“...a beautiful blue ribbon that read “90 Years Vancouver 2025 Language of the Heart” in multiple languages.”

By June 2025, a package arrived in the mail that made everything feel real: a souvenir book, a Grapevine journal, my transit pass, and a name badge. I couldn't wait. I landed in Vancouver on Wednesday, July 2—two days before the official start of the convention. The energy in the city was already electric.

That first day, Wednesday, I headed straight to the Vancouver Convention Centre's East Building. I picked up my lanyard, a beautiful blue ribbon that read “90 Years Vancouver 2025 Language of the Heart” in multiple languages. I wore it throughout the convention and used it to collect commemorative pins from participants across the globe. Some pins had clever slogans, others were custom-designed by home groups. Though I missed out on the coveted pickle pin, I happily traded the ones I bought on Amazon. I even began planning my own pin design for the 2030 convention in St. Louis, MO.

Inside the East Building, I explored the “G.S.O. Archives” and booths such as “International Visitors Hospitality”, and the “Oldtimers Big Meeting sign-up.” One especially important booth was Accessibilities, which ensured that all attendees—regardless of physical or mental limitations—could participate fully. I also visited the West Building, where attendees could pre-order panoramic photos of the first stadium meeting, purchase souvenir books, and order official recordings of the workshops and large stadium meetings.

One of my favorite stops in the West Building was the “Carry the Message Pavilion,” where someone could find out about the many service opportunities available during the convention. Many took up that opportunity and as volunteers in coral-colored shirts, they guided visitors by navigating them around the convention; transit services, to workshops, and even places to eat. Seeing people so willing to help inspired me and reminded me how service keeps us connected and sober. Other booths included La Vigne (the French Grapevine) and the Anonymity Booth, which addressed concerns around media and digital presence.

That evening, I explored “Sober City,” a vendor village just down the street, filled with independent merchants selling everything from jewelry and medallions to t-shirts and mugs. There were a lot of people there trying to sell me “Sober Vacations.” I got some business cards and will be looking into that in the near future. While not officially affiliated with the convention, it was a festive place to shop and meet fellow AAs.

“...It was a joyous, come-as-you-are celebration of sobriety, laughter, and friendship.”

Thursday kicked off with marathon meetings and hospitality suites—25 in total, each offering something unique. I visited just a few: GAL-AA, the Online Intergroup, Technology in AA, and the National AA Archives Workshop Board. I also joined two marathon meetings: “Welcoming Newcomers” and “Acceptance,” both of which offered heartfelt shares and welcoming fellowship.

Language of the Heart, Lenguaje del corazón, Le langage du cœur

That night, a block party spread across four different locations and featured music from the 60s to the 90s. It was a joyous, come-as-you-are celebration of sobriety, laughter, and friendship. My evening ended with dinner alongside fellow Louisiana AA members—an anchor of familiarity in a sea of new faces.

Friday offered nearly 100 workshops and 12 more marathon meetings. Since sessions overlapped and popular ones filled up quickly, I learned to plan ahead and have backups. Some rooms held up to 1,200 people, while others were more intimate. They must have known those large rooms were the most popular, because they were always full with people waiting.

I managed to attend multiple powerful workshops, including “LGBTQ+: Being a Part of A.A. as a Whole.” Cindy C. from Vancouver BC, CA shared their story of relapse and redemption. One quote stayed with me: “I didn’t drink—I didn’t give up five minutes before that miracle.” Jim D. from Atlanta, GA made us laugh and reflect with lines like, “God grant me the serenity to accept the sea of people, the courage to speak from the heart, and the wisdom to know when to shut up.” I really need to remember that next time I speak. Shay T. from Palm Springs, CA reminded us of the importance of the 9th Step and the healing it brings. Hearing these stories affirmed my belief in the diversity and strength of AA members.

Later, I attended the “AA Grapevine Writer’s Workshop.” Jon W., Senior Editor & Chief, explained the submission process for the magazine and website. We heard from published contributors and even wrote short pieces ourselves. Jon shared that the Grapevine receives about 150 submissions a month, and that the editorial team groups them into themes like Amends, Sponsors, and Humor. He emphasized being detailed, 300-1500 words, and following submission guidelines. Upcoming themes included are “AA & Family,” “Young and Sober,” and “Sober Travel.”

Another workshop, “Satisfactions of Right Living,” included a talk from Eban B., our Area 27 (Louisiana) Chair. His honesty about spiritual struggle and surrender was deeply moving. “It was me versus the world,” he said of his drinking days, but now, he said, he sees his Higher Power in everything. That line stayed with me.

Friday evening brought one of the convention’s signature moments: the “Opening Flag Ceremony & Big Meeting”. As 34 thousand AAs filled the stadium and the Preamble was read aloud, a hush fell over the crowd. Then came a powerful wave of color as flags from nations around the world swept the stage. I can’t describe the unity and emotion I felt—except to say that I’ll never forget it.

Saturday brought more meetings and workshops, including “In All Our Affairs,” “LGBTQ+: Focus on Our Primary Purpose,” and “AA Websites.” Again, I had to get in line early to attend my top picks. The evening’s “Oldtimers & Big Meeting” at the stadium featured stories from sober members with over 50 years in the program. The wisdom they shared lit a path of hope for all of us.

At 10 PM, I headed to the GaL-AA Dance Party. Sober fun at its finest—it was second only to the Flag Ceremony in terms of energy and joy. Music, laughter, and community filled the room. It was a beautiful reminder that recovery isn’t just about survival; it’s about living fully.

Sunday morning began with breakfast alongside friends from Louisiana. Together, we walked to the “Closing Ceremony & Big Meeting,” where speakers once again offered hope, gratitude, and unity. The event ended with a heartfelt thank-you to all who made the convention a success. It’s still remarkable to me: no fights, no arrests, no drama—just peace, joy, and healing.

I had the honor of doing service work with the G.S.O. at the “Why We Pay Our Own Way” booth, helping people understand AA’s tradition of self-support. I even assisted a few attendees in navigating their registration needs. One convention member said Louisiana (Area 27) was the most helpful state they’d ever seen. That made me proud beyond words.

Vancouver itself was incredible—temperatures in the 60s and 70s, clean streets, kind people, and excellent shopping. The currency exchange worked in my favor, and I was fascinated by how stores used portable card readers instead of taking your card. My card was never touched. I left with a deep appreciation for the city and hope to return someday.

The Vancouver 2025 Convention was more than just an event—it was a spiritual milestone. I departed with a heart full of gratitude, inspired by new friends and voices, and more committed to service than ever. Though words can only capture part of it, I’m so glad to share this story with you. And yes—I’ve already marked my calendar for the 2030 International Convention in St. Louis. Want to rent a bus? Count me in!

Do you want to feel like you went to the International Convention too? The Louisiana State Convention will have a basket in the Silent Auction filled with items that you could only get if you were there; an International Convention 2025 coin, Grapevine journal, a souvenir book, lanyards, coffee cup, snacks from Vancouver, maple syrup, coffee, and much more. All in a nice metal basket.

Breath by Breath: Controlled Breathing and Step 11

In the quiet space between inhale and exhale lies a doorway—one that leads us away from the emotional chaos of our past and into the steady stillness of the present moment. For those of us in recovery through Alcoholics Anonymous, this doorway is not theoretical. It is real, practical, and accessible. It is offered through Step 11: “Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood Him...” and finds tangible support through the ancient practice of controlled breathing.

Controlled breathing is more than just slowing your breath down or “taking a deep breath” when you’re upset. It’s an intentional, meditative practice that engages the body, calms the nervous system, and creates space between stimulus and response. When integrated with the spiritual principles of A.A.’s Eleventh Step, it becomes a powerful bridge to serenity—one that carries us out of emotional reactivity and into spiritual receptivity.

For many of us, emotional upheaval was as addictive as alcohol. Anger, fear, guilt, shame, or grief—these states often seemed to control us, pulling us down like undertows. Even after we put the bottle down, emotional sobriety lagged far behind physical sobriety. Step 11 doesn’t promise that all our emotions will vanish. What it offers is a new relationship to them—rooted in conscious contact with a Higher Power, achieved through daily disciplines of prayer and meditation.

But meditation often feels intimidating or vague to those newly sober. The mind races. The body twitches. The past intrudes. This is where controlled breathing becomes a useful spiritual tool—an anchor in the storm of thoughts and feelings.

What Is Controlled Breathing?

Controlled breathing refers to various techniques of intentionally slowing and deepening the breath to engage the parasympathetic nervous system—the part of the body responsible for rest, recovery, and calm.

Common examples of controlled breathing include:

- Box Breathing (Four-Part Breath): Inhale for 4 counts, hold for 4, exhale for 4, hold for 4.
- 4-7-8 Breathing: Inhale for 4, hold for 7, exhale for 8.
- Extended Exhale Breathing: Inhale slowly, exhale for twice as long.

Why does it work? Because breath is one of the few autonomic processes we can consciously control. By adjusting the breath, we indirectly calm the mind. The emotions quiet. We are no longer flailing inside them—we are observing them.

Bill W. describes in the Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions how Step 11 leads us to a place where we are no longer “lost and frightened and purposeless.” Through prayer, we align with the will of God; through meditation, we open ourselves to spiritual guidance.

Controlled breathing is a doorway into this meditation. It slows the monkey mind. It allows the heart rate to drop. It puts space between us and our emotional surges. In that space, something divine can speak.

Step 11 is not about escaping life or numbing ourselves to reality. It’s about developing the tools and willingness to face life with clarity. Controlled breathing helps us detach from emotion—not by ignoring or repressing it, but by learning not to identify with it.

When practiced regularly, it teaches us:

- Emotions are impermanent. Like the breath, they arise and pass.

- We are not our thoughts or feelings. Just as we are not our breath, we are the awareness of breath.

Spiritual guidance arises in stillness. Not in emotional drama.

Controlled breathing becomes a form of mini Step 11s throughout the day. Before a hard conversation. After receiving criticism. When craving surfaces. When sadness returns. Each time we pause and breathe with intention, we are remembering that we are not the emotion—we are the one witnessing it. And in that witnessing, there is power, peace, and freedom.

One of the most profound effects of controlled breathing in recovery is the shift from reaction to reflection. Bill W. says that “prayer and meditation are our principal means of conscious contact with God.” But we cannot make contact if we are always reacting. We cannot hear guidance if the static of emotion is too loud.

Controlled breathing trains us to create stillness on demand. It gives us a spiritual reflex. Instead of snapping back in anger or running away in fear, we breathe. And then respond.

Even in the Big Book, this principle is hinted at: “We pause, when agitated or doubtful, and ask for the right thought or action.” Controlled breathing is that pause. It is the invitation to wisdom before ego takes the wheel.

In Alcoholics Anonymous Treatment and Corrections service, Bridging the Gap programs connect alcoholics leaving Treatment or Correctional facilities with Alcoholics Anonymous in their home communities by providing them with temporary contacts.

Bridging the Gap Workshop Weekend events are full weekends focused on sharing our experiences, Bridging the Gap, and developing new ideas that enhance our Service to those requesting temporary contacts.

BTGWW Annual Workshops, Newsletters, and Digital Resource Library are tools that help us learn from each other.

Registration fees ensure BTGWW events remain self-supporting.

A NOTE FROM THE BTGWW COORDINATOR

Greetings to everyone. Rob O here, your 2025 BTGWW Chair. I hope all is going fantabulous in your individual lives, through your continued revelations in the fellowship, and our collective bridging experiences as we continue to work this all-important opportunity of 12th step work in Alcoholics Anonymous via Bridging the Gap. September is fast approaching as we are getting, making, and checking off the to-dos for our next gathering in Area 5 at the Sheraton Ontario Airport Hotel in the greater Los Angeles area. So set your reminders now if you haven't already. History has shown us that each year this event is put on, we meet new and passionate members sharing the ever-evolving tools and how they are used in the bridging process. This year looks to be carrying the same enthusiasm with panels, speakers, food, and everything that gives the opportunity to fellowship. One last mention..... pre-register, reserve your room at the hotel, get in the car, on the plane, bus, or whatever mode of transportation you desire and we will see you in Sunny California.

In love and Service

Rob O.

2025/2026 BTGWW Coordinator

A NOTE FROM THE BTGWW ALT-COORDINATOR

How's it going there - eh? I am beyond grateful to have the opportunity to bring my Canadian flavour to the BTGWW planning committee. I started getting involved with my local corrections committee when I was newly sober and my passion & drive for helping those who are often over-looked has been unwavering ever since. The connections I have made at these conferences continue inspire me to strive to do better and to continue to be an instrument of change. I am excited to see many familiar faces and to make new connections this year in LA! Please don't wait to sign up for the event, we can't wait to see you all!

Yours in Service,

Amanda S.

2025/2026 BTGWW Alt-Coordinator

A NOTE FROM GSO

My name is Eileen, and I am the staff member currently on the Regional Forums assignment. I am so looking forward to being with you all at the BTG weekend. I am working with Nick the current staff member on Corrections so that I can provide you all with the most up to date information. Corrections was the first assignment I was on from 2022-2023 and I was spiritually rearranged forever working with all the AA members in and outside the walls. I also enjoyed working on connecting people in the Corrections Correspondence Service (CCS) and helping with Prerelease Contacts. Reading the letters and creating the Sharing from Behind the Walls Newsletter was a highlight. I have a poem written by a member in custody that I still share with others, and I look forward to sharing it with you all soon.

In fellowship,

Eileen A

General Service Office of Alcoholics Anonymous

Why we have to register: A convention is not a regular AA meeting but a special event that requires a significant amount of money to be successful. The Tri-State Convention is self-supporting and paid for through registration fees plus voluntary contributions from individual members or groups. No baskets are passed at the convention, and attendance is of course voluntary. As responsible AA members we always pay our way.
