Responsibility Declaration

I am responsible. When anyone, anywhere, reaches out for help, I want the hand of AA always to be there. And for that, I am responsible.

Ninth Tradition

Each A.A. group needs the least possible organization. Rotating leadership is the best. The small group may elect its secretary, the large group its rotating committee, and the group of a large metropolitan area their central or intergroup committee, which often employs a full-time secretary. The trustee of the General Service Committee. They are custodians of our A.A. Tradition and the receivers of voluntary contributions by which we maintain our A.A. General Service Office at New York. They are authorized by the groups to handle our overall public relations and they guarantee the integrity of our principal newspaper, the A.A. Grapevine. All such representatives are to be guided in the spirit of service, for true leasers in A.A. are but trusted and experienced servants of the whole. They derive no real authority from their titles; they do no govern. Universal respect is the key to their usefulness.
